The U.S. Small Business Administration is stopping in your area to register small businesses in storm-affected areas for contracting opportunities with federal, state and local governments, and major corporations to assist in the area's recovery.

SBA is seeking those small businesses currently registered in the Central Contractor Registry that have the ability to respond to contract opportunities with immediate resources – supplies, services, employees, etc.

To register your small business, bring:

- Primary contact information
- Description of your business and its capabilities
- Keywords to describe your products and services

Small businesses still needing to register with CCR should go online to www.ccr.gov to begin the process.

SBA counseling services will also be available.

Visit www.sba.gov for specific questions concerning mobile registration.
