The Office of the National Ombudsman assists small businesses facing unfair regulatory enforcement actions, excessive fines and penalties, retaliation, or compliance with disproportionately burdensome regulations involving federal agencies.

IT DOES WORK

After presenting their issues to the Ombudsman, some small businesses have had fines lowered or eliminated and decisions changed in their favor.

BE SPECIFIC

Be prepared to address a specific regulation that is burdening your business. This is how to get results.

ABOUT THE ROUNDTABLE

SMC Business Councils is pleased to host the Ombudsman in western Pennsylvania. This event gives you the opportunity to tell him which federal regulations are hampering your ability to do business. Samples include but are not limited to the following:

- OSHA issues.
- Medicare purchasing rules and audits impacting small businesses.
- Government contract regulations impacting employment practices.
- NLRB regulations impacting subcontractors under the new joint employer rule.
- EEOC "Ban the Box."
- Affordable Care Act – the Department of Labor, Health & Human Services and the Internal Revenue Service have issued numerous regulations with the Affordable Care Act and labor regulations surrounding HR issues.
- DOL – New overtime regulations.
