Graded Agency:

The Department of the Interior (Interior) actively promotes the use of small businesses in executing annual contract awards of approximately $2.7 billion. Interior's small business contracting results reflect a robust small business program and sustained commitment to providing the maximum practicable opportunity to small businesses through prime contract and subcontract awards. Small business accomplishment continues to be a critical element in the performance evaluation of senior executives and program officials throughout the Department. Expanding opportunities for small businesses to contract with the Federal government is a priority of the President and Interior Secretary Sally Jewell. Small businesses play a vital role in creating jobs and spurring economic growth. More new jobs are created by small businesses than any other sector of the economy, and our small business partners provide goods and services that enable us to deliver Interior's mission in communities across the Nation. Although Interior did not meet its FY 2014 small business prime contracting goal, its 55.3% performance was more than twice the statutory 23% goal. During the past ten years Interior has awarded over $15.8 Billion to small businesses, at an average rate of over 50% per year. Interior will build on the success of past years, and continue to strive to exceed its annual goals.
