SBA and GobiernoUSA.gov Host Live Spanish Hangout on Business Tips for Young Entrepreneurs

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Small Business Administration and GobiernoUSA.gov will host a live Hangout in Spanish on Sept. 25 to offer business tips for young entrepreneurs. The live Hangout will help budding young entrepreneurs who are looking for tips on how to start a new business.

Participants in the Hangout will get insight from young entrepreneur Sarah Farzam, owner of Bilingual Birdies, a foreign language and live music company that encourages cross-cultural awareness for young children through combining language and music. Farzam will answer questions about getting started as a young entrepreneur.

Hangout participants can submit questions for Farzam by email to learning@sba.gov or tweet questions using the hashtag #jovenesempresarios.
