Advocacy Suggests the Federal Communications Commission Considers Starting the Process of Reviewing/Revising Telecommunication Services Size Standards to Reflect Changes in Market.

On March 5, 2010 the Office sent a letter to Federal Communications Commission (FCC) asking that the agency, as part of its developing the National Broadband Plan, looks into the possibility of redefining/revising, in conjunction with the U.S. Small Business Administration, the telecommunication services size standards to better reflect current market conditions. A copy of Advocacy's letter may be accessed at <http://www.sba.gov/advo/laws/comments>.

Advocacy believes that size standards that are more in sync with the existing market will help Advocacy and others document the trends followed by small business providers of telecommunication services.
