

2017 Minority Small Business Champion

Steven and Shawn Bromell are entrepreneurs and owners of Pro Cutters Landscapes, a commercial, right-of-way mowing business that serves the entire Metro Atlanta area. Shawn began her career in radio and then moved on to work as a television news anchor and reporter in various cities including Atlanta, Orlando and Charlotte.

However, Shawn always had a desire to work in business and it was after she married Steve that the dream came true. Together, they started their own business, Pro Cutters, and they have grown it into one of the top lawn care companies in Georgia. In fact, all the grass you see along the highways and roads in Metro Atlanta is cut by Pro Cutters. And when you visit many of the Welcome Centers in the state, think of Pro Cutters Landscapes.

In addition to running the business with her husband, Shawn spends time mentoring other entrepreneurs and working with minority business development organizations. The company's efforts to increase supplier diversity as well as growth in minority business ownership have received numerous awards and honors.