New Mexico, Rhode Island Firms Named National Contractors of the Year as Procurement Awards Take Center Stage During National Small Business Week

Small Businesses, Corporate Leaders and Government Officials Honored

WASHINGTON – Two small business contractors, one from New Mexico and the other from Rhode Island, were today named the National Prime Contractor of the Year and National Subcontractor of the Year by the U.S. Small Business Administration at a luncheon held at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel in Washington, D.C. as part of National Small Business Week.

The Small Business Prime Contractor and Small Business Subcontractor of the Year awards honor small businesses that have provided the government and industry with outstanding goods and services either as prime contractors or as subcontractors. The recipients are:

- Small Business Prime Contractor of the Year, Richard J. Lara, President of Classic Industries, Inc. of Dona Ana, NM. This general contractor and construction management firm specializes in commercial and residential construction projects. The small disadvantaged and 8(a)-certified business has fulfilled more than 50 Department of Defense construction contracts.
- Small Business Subcontractor of the Year, Cheryl Snead, President and CEO and Roland Snead, Executive Vice President of Banneker Industries Inc. of North Smithfield, RI. This firm is a graduate of the 8(a) program and is a major player in supply chain management for the federal government and private sector.

“Today, we celebrate the small businesses, corporate leaders and government officials who contribute to the success of small businesses, their communities and our economy,” said SBA Administrator Steve Preston. “It is this kind of entrepreneurship on the part of small businesses and leadership by corporate and government purchasers that helped small businesses secure more than $78 billion in federal contracts for goods and services last year, helping them grow, create jobs and fuel the nation’s economy.”

The luncheon was sponsored by Raytheon and the Minority Business Development Agency.

Small business owners, corporate leaders, government officials and volunteers from across the country are in Washington, D.C. for the week-long conference to be honored for their accomplishments in procurement and their contributions to the small business community and the nation’s economy. The contracting awards recognize these businesses and organizations for their commitment to providing contracting and subcontracting opportunities to small, women-owned and small disadvantaged businesses.
